Abstract

In a method and system for providing racing information to a user, a request for program information for races within a multiple race wager group is received. Respective program information specific to each race within the multiple race wager group are displayed together in a single graphical user interface screen.